

WILSON AND CLEMENCEAU CONFER AT MURAT PALACE

SERIES OF IMPORTANT CONFERENCES AT PARIS AND SOON AT LONDON HASTEN REAL PEACE DISCUSSIONS

LONDON PREPARES FOR WELCOME

By ROBERT J. BENDER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Dec. 19.—President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau began an important conference at the Murat palace this morning. It is believed a close understanding between France and the United States regarding the details of the peace pact will be reached. At the conclusion of the conference the President was scheduled to return Marshal Foch's call.

Miss Margaret Wilson is expected to resume her tour of the American military camps tomorrow. She has asked to be sent to the most isolated locality and as a result she probably will be sent to Gondrecourt on Christmas day, while the President will address our doughboys at the American headquarters.

There are two Gondrecourts in the American zone. One is 18 miles east and north of Verdun and the other is 45 miles south of that city. The former is probably where Miss Wilson will visit.

By LOWELL MELLETT

LONDON, Dec. 19.—London intends to exceed Paris' welcome to President Wilson in the same degree that its population exceeds that of the French capital. While great numbers of the political and non-political organizations are considering separate demonstrations in Wilson's honor it is believed they will ultimately follow the example made by Paris and combine in one big celebration. The government of course will provide the President with every attendance but it is London's millions who will give the real welcome.

Wilson's visit will mean more than a holiday since he will arrive in the midst of a warm discussion over the Allied-Russian policy. It is practically certain that his counsel will be sought in this regard. It is also absolutely equally certain he will be urged to define more definitely his attitude concerning the freedom of the seas and enlarge on his plans for a league of nations. While all attentions will be showered on the President and Mrs. Wilson in the form of banquets, parades, speeches, memorials and general celebrations, it is evident that much of the preliminary work of the peace conference will be transacted here.

Renewed interest in the Russian program is the outgrowth of persistent rumors that a great Allied expedition will occupy Petrograd and other parts of Russia to suppress Bolshevism and establish order during the present winter. Newspapers complain that soldiers of the Allies have been ordered to Russia.

ITALIAN KING IN PARIS

By HENRY WOOD

PARIS, Dec. 19.—King Victor Emanuel of Italy arrived in Paris at 3:10 this afternoon.

HARDEN FOR TRIAL OF KAISER

By United Press

BERLIN, (Delayed.)—Maximilian Harden, writing in his newspaper, declared that the former Kaiser should be tried.

GILLET ALSO CANDIDATE FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Washington, Dec. 19.—Representative Gillet of Mass., announced his candidacy today for speaker of the next House of Representatives. He has the united backing of the Massachusetts delegation. Gillet is the second candidate to formally make the announcement. Representative Mann of Illinois made his announcement yesterday.

STOCKS BRISK

New York, Dec. 19.—Leading issues registered fractional advances at the opening of the stock market today. Trading was brisk compared with the dullness which prevailed for the past week. Parianan preferred opened at 111½ up; Bethlehem B. 62½ up; American Smelting 81½ up; United States Steel 96½. Reading 85, fighting part of the way.

William Blakely is ill at his home on Dorcy street suffering from an attack of tonsillitis.

The suffrage movement in New York has resulted in a far heavier enrollment in the law school of New York University than ever before has been known.

According to reports from the United States Employment Service, women are now employed in railroad tank painting, hardware industry processes, garage management and in ranch work.

In the recent fighting toward Damascus one section of Arabs marched seventy miles in twenty-four hours.

CLEANINGS FROM SOLDIERS' LETTERS

John A. Black in a letter to his father, John Black of O'Shanter says he is writing his letter, which is dated November 21st, in an American Red Cross rest room and then proceeds to give a brief outline of his six months service in France. He says: "This is the first real place I have been in since I came to France. It has been nearly six months since I landed and believe me, it has been a long six months. We have hiked all over France and have spent two months under shell fire. We went over the top first on September 26th and came out of the front line on October 31st. We then hiked around for four days; rested for a week, then started back and got into it again on the 31st and finished on the morning the armistice was signed. How glad we felt when we got the good news."

He says in his letter that he is uneasy about his brother Bob as he had not heard from him in more than two months. He said Bob's regiment went into the line at the same time theirs did, but were roughly handled and only stayed in ten hours. Sergeant Robert Black was reported killed in action September 26th.

The Black boys were doing their bit for their country, four of them having been in the service. Sergeant Robert who made the supreme sacrifice, John the writer of the above letter, James in the Spruce Division at Vancouver Barracks and Alexander in the U. S. Merchant Marine.

Lloyd Mulson of Frenchville, in an interesting letter to his father, P. A. Mulson, written from Lobbe Freres, St. Florent, France, November 24th, tells an interesting story of his experiences during his year of service with the A. E. F. He is a Quarter Master Sergeant in the railroad division and handles eight or nine trains a day. He says he has acquired more practical knowledge during his twelve months in France than he would have received in three years at college. He was through the thickest of the fighting and helped bridge the Vesle river seven different times during the terrible struggles of Pershing's boys to cross that historic stream.

He was wounded and in the hospital for some time. His wounds consisted of a lacerated hand, four ribs broken and other injuries due to shrapnel. The boys are all glad the war is over and anxious to get home, but Sergeant Mulson says he is one of Uncle Sammy's nephews who is going to stay with the old man until the job is done, regardless of the time it takes.

Fred Freeman in a letter to his father, John Freeman, of Grampian, says the boys sure were glad when the war ended. They had been thru war's hardest and cruellest mill and while they had clinched the victory there were many of their comrades who would remain behind in the graveyards of France, while the many crippled soldiers would ever remind America of the sacrifices her sons made to make this old world a better place to live in. His letter is dated November 22d, and he winds up by saying that while all the boys are anxious to get home they are going to stay right on the job as long as their Uncle Sammy needs them.

Raymond B. Helsel in a letter to his father H. J. Helsel, of Turnpike avenue, which was written on "Father's Day", November 24th last, gives his impression of France. He is not stuck on "Frogland" at that, and says everything is so different from what we have in the U. S. A. He would prefer to be hunting deer in Pennsylvania in two feet of snow and is anxious to know whether the Panther Camp got a deer this year. The customs of the French are harder for the young yank to understand than the appearance of the towns, but he says now that the war is over and they will all soon be home he will tell them more about it when he lands.

BEEN FRACTURED SOME

Ray Shirey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shirey of William street, fell and broke a wrist while at play last evening. Young Shirey is some broker or breaker or whatever you choose to call it, as a total of his casualties figure up two broken legs and three broken arms. That is he has had both his legs broken and this made three arms fractured, as he had both arms cracked previously to this accident.

THIRTEEN FLU CASES

There were thirteen new cases of influenza reported yesterday. There are eleven cases in the emergency hospital today; no new case were taken into the hospital since yesterday morning.

DOCTORS PROTEST HOSPITAL CLOSING

At a meeting of the physicians of Clearfield Wednesday night called to discuss the recent action of the Board of Health regarding the closing of the Emergency Hospital on December 21st it was the unanimous opinion expressed that such action was inadvisable at so early a date. The experience of many localities has been that two or more outbreaks have followed the original epidemic and the possible further need of this institution may at any time become urgent. Where entire families are afflicted and no attention is available in their homes to be without such a hospital would entail unquestionable suffering and without doubt death.

We can not see the consistency of the Board of Health action in view of the facts as they have presented themselves, not only here but in other localities.

DEER VISITS TOWN

A fine big doe deer run off the mountains by dogs wandered through the East End this morning. The deer came up Bigler avenue about 1 o'clock and when an automobile came along hopped over the fence into Bert Merritt's lot, corner Fourth and Bigler avenue. She then started up toward Daisy street and another car drove her back again. A couple of boys got out after her and she finally beat it across Daisy street and up through Hillcrest cemetery. It then ambled down to Fifth street and out to Market and gingerly traversed the brick street up past the Allegheny House. It then turned back and went up Fourth street to Cherry, crossed lots to Walnut and raced that street to river. It ran down the bank and crossed below the boating dam. On reaching the other side the deer stopped long enough to say "Hello" to Doc Leopold, who was out on his back porch and after injuring about Jack Mohny and Hen Mabie, she hustled across lots to the woods on Coal Hill.

I saw it in The Progress.

TRUTH AND FACTS DO BATTLE FOR REAL PEACE

It has long been said that truth is stranger than fiction and it is true that it takes the wisdom of a Solomon to strike a balance between the two, and at that in many, many cases Old Man Fiction is able to get a strange hold on shrinking little Miss Truth and send her to the mat for the count.

However anything is liable to occur any time a DuBois case "comes to the boards" at the Temple of Justice in this state, decorous and respectable old county seat town.

At least that was the opinion of the court room loungers Tuesday afternoon after sitting through the testimony at the hearing of the case of Hugh Jeffrey to show cause why his license for the Hotel Windsor should not be revoked, it being the contention of District Attorney Arnold that Jeffrey was an alien and therefore not eligible under the Brooks License law to hold a license.

It seems that some of the DuBois people are and have been unable to live in "peas and hominy" with their neighbors. In fact this state of affairs has persisted for some time. One of the leading actors or factors in this drama or vendetta of brother against brother, class against class, or "dry" against "wet" as the case may be, is former Chief of Police and former County Detective Hugh Jeffrey, who recently was granted a license to conduct the Windsor hotel bar.

There appears to be and has been for a long time some misunderstanding between Jeffrey's exact status in the community. He is a "foreigner" in that in his people came from County Durham, England, and with his family now to have been born in Shenandoah, Pa., some of his friends and many of his enemies claim he was born across the water and as neither his father or himself were naturalized of course remains a British subject while exercising the rights and functions and reaping the benefits of American citizenship.

Recently documentary evidence sufficient to warrant him to believe that Mr. Jeffrey was at least mistaken in his claims of American citizenship, was placed in the hands of District Attorney Arnold and fortified with these seemingly incontrovertible facts, that official petitioned the court to grant a rule on Mr. Jeffrey returnable Tuesday last, asking him to show cause why his license should not be revoked, for the reasons already stated.

The hearing was held Tuesday afternoon before Judge Ball. The District Attorney prosecuting the inquiry while Miller & Hartwick appeared for Mr. Jeffrey.

Mr. Arnold in the course of the investigation established the fact that James and Ann Jeffrey, parents of Hugh, lived in England and along about 1879 emigrated to Shenandoah, Pa. He then presented a certificate of birth from the town in England showing that a son was born to James and Ann Jeffrey on June 20, 1872, and followed this with a baptismal certificate from the Presbyterian church to prove showing that the child was baptized and given the name of Hugh.

He then produced the marriage license record which showed that Hugh Jeffrey had made application to Squire Woodring at DuBois for a marriage license, in 1897, in which application his age was given as 25 years.

He further showed that Jeffrey joined the Scottish clan in DuBois in 1911 and his application recited the fact that he was born in England in 1872.

In each of the above documents the number of brothers and sisters of Jeffrey, living and dead, are given, but no mention is made of the possible death of the claimed first Hugh Jeffrey.

This was followed by an application for insurance made in 1915, to the Metropolitan Insurance company in which it stated over Jeffrey's signature that he was born in England and was 43 years of age.

Now enters the strange part of this intricate tangled skein or talk. Mr. Jeffrey was placed upon the stand and stated that he was born at Shenandoah, Pa., in 1879, and was seven years younger than his insurance application stated he was in 1915. He produced a birth certificate showing that a son was born to James and Ann Jeffrey at Shenandoah in 1879. When cross-examined as to the marriage license application

SHALL WE BACKSLIDE?

One is apt to think of after-the-war reconstruction, as far as this country is concerned, merely in terms of materials released from munition manufacture and of labor turned back to peacetime trades. It will be unfortunate if this is as far as it goes. Along with the reconstruction of industry, of business and of labor, it is to be hoped that there is to be a reconstruction of the American home, based upon the lessons of war-time thrift.

It used to be almost a boast of the American people that we were a wasteful lot. Not much wiser, after all than the spendthrift prodigal who smiles in fatuous fashion over the approving shoulder-slappings of his comrades, we seemed as a nation to feel a vague sort of pride when other peoples stood amazed at our lavishness.

It required participation in a world war to make us see things in their proper light. As a nation we were wasting our resources—resources of precious value to our country in its hour of peril. As individuals we found ourselves—many of us who had long been living beyond our incomes and laying aside nothing for the inevitable "rainy day"—appealed to with desperate earnestness to contribute hard dollars to help defend the flag. It was a great awakening. Suddenly the waste we had indulged became a cardinal sin in our eyes, and earnestly we set about to mend our ways. Shall we now go back?

During the past 19 months many of us, for the first time in our lives, became the owners of government bonds. Twenty million of us became bondholders; and that, too, despite the fact that the incomes of many homes remained stationary while the cost of living soared skyward. Thrift stamps, war savings stamps, Liberty bonds! Under the spur of our country's need we bought to our capacity, and as we bought it must have been borne in upon most of us how easy it is, once we start, to acquire the habit of saving.

There probably will not be more than two more issues of Liberty bonds but we are given to understand by Washington that the government means to establish as a permanent institution the business of selling saving stamps. It is a wise decision and one by which we should not fail to profit.

So, too, it is to be hoped that the measures which we adopted voluntarily to conserve the nation's food supply in time of war will be of lasting benefit. When nations abroad starved for lack of the barest essentials of food, the doctrine of the clean plate became for us, who had plenty, a sacred trust. Even with peace half of Europe lies prostrate and famine stalks through Russia. Months, perhaps years, must pass before the shell-torn fields of France and the wasted acres of Russia can produce their accustomed harvests. In face of this, dare we go back?

SOLDIERS TO ENTERTAIN AT THE Y. M. C. A.

About twenty soldiers visit and use the privileges of the Y every day. They all appreciate and use the gymnasium, bowling alleys and shower baths.

Secretary Graus has arranged a bowling match for them and secured an auditor to give the boys a talk on how it feels to fly. A soldier who was in the second battle of the Marne—both have been wounded and have consented to give the boys a talk some evening.

A basketball team of ex-soldiers will play in the basketball league starting in January.

NOTICE

The Presbyterian chorus for the cantata "The Shepherds of Bethlehem" will rehearse in the church at seven o'clock this evening. A full attendance is desired.

THE PATRIOTIC CHRISTMAS GIFT

War Savings Stamps furnish the Government money, necessary now to keep our Armies in Germany and to bring them back safely.

As an investment they are absolutely safe.

As Christmas Gifts to your loved ones they are most appropriate.

This Christmas, give the patriot's gift, WAR SAVINGS STAMPS. They cost $1.23 each.

WANTED

We have heard a great deal about "Keeping the Home Fires Burning" during the past year and a half, and while it may not take so much fuel now, to do it, it costs more, and the health and comfort of our sick and injured is just as important in peace as in war, and your hospital is as busy and as ready to serve as ever. Help us to maintain and improve its service.

Please send your checks to either of the undersigned.

Christmas gifts and good will

YOU know, the value of a gift isn't in what it costs, but in the good will it represents.

Just now, when the world needs it more than anything else, it is a good idea to put extra emphasis on the "Good will."

For reasons of economy, all gifts this year should be useful gifts; find out what your friends and loved ones really need; something he or she will have to buy anyway, sooner or later; give something like that.

There are plenty of such gifts; you'll find lots of them here in our store—gifts suitable for men. Buy Christmas things early; it's a government request.

News of Our Neighbors

CURWENSVILLE

Clayton McNaull who hunted on the mountain all of last week, came home Saturday and brought with him a case of influenza. His attack is of a slight form.

Roy Crissman, who has been confined to his home on South Side for more than a week fighting the influenza, is able to be up and about again.

W. K. Wrigley druggist went to Clearfield yesterday afternoon and transacted business.

Walter Deering aged 21, who died at the home of his father a few days ago, was buried in Oak Hill cemetery.

Miss Lou Holden who is suffering from an attack of pneumonia, was reported last evening to be in a critical condition.

Roy Strickland since being mustered out of the U. S. navy recently is now engaged in the barber shop of James Richards.

Parents of J. Earl Sipes received news from the department yesterday that their son had been killed in action on November 3d. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sipes, who reside in the south side and enlisted in the Marine service sometime last June. He was the first native Curwensville boy who has met death so far fighting across the sea.

An Italian child was buried in Oak Hill cemetery yesterday, its death resulting from an attack of influenza.

George Ammerman who has been attending military school at Carlisle is home on furlough subject to his mustering out of the service.

Charles Addleman, of Pike township, was in town yesterday and reported that his wife and two other members of his family were down with the flu.

Word was received here yesterday by Charles Moose announcing the death of his brother George Moose which occurred at Reynoldsville yesterday. He was principal of the Reynoldsville schools and since their suspension on account of the flu epidemic has been assisting in taking care of the sick of that town.

ough council to have the Raftsmen Water company test all plugs that the borough might have an occasion to use some night. The present weather is propitious for a good test now by the water company.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Over one thousand negro women have found employment in workshops in Newark, N. J.

Roller skates are used to save time by women messengers in the United States arsenal at Rock Island, Ill.

The Michigan Federation of Labor is urging the enactment of a State law to insure women equal pay for equal work.

More than 1500 women and girls have been graduated from the mechanics training school established by one of the big automobile manufacturers.

Investigations show that women operatives on drill presses and milling machines are from 25 to 50 per cent faster in their work than men operatives.

The chemical engineering college of the University of Michigan is offering two short courses to women this fall to train them as inspectors of ordnance.

England's only woman hotel keeper of title is Lady Honywood, wife of Sir Courtenay Honywood, Bart. Recently Lady Honywood has taken over the entire control and management of a fashionable hotel in London.

The celebrated Duchess of Sutherland is disposing of her property in England with a view to making her future home in France. She is credited with having set up one of the best-equipped military hospitals in the war zone.

Relief from Eczema

Don't worry about eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, healthy skin by using a little zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or extra large bottle at $1.00. Zemo generally removes pimples, blackheads, blotches, eczema, and ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy and stains nothing. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable.

Make The Most Of Your Time From Now Till Christmas

The shopping days before Christmas are getting fewer and fewer and it behooves you, in event of so much early shopping, to take advantage of these timely and sensible gifts that we are mentioning below.

UNDERSKIRTS

Fancy Heatherbloom underskirts with the clinging lines that are so much in vogue today. There's plenty of colors for you.

WHY NOT GIVE FURS

We still have a plentiful selection of stoles, neckpieces and muffs. There are also some children's sets.

MEN'S SHIRTS

These shirts were selected by men for men. The colors are of the quiet kind. HALL-MARK made is featured. Have stiff or soft cuffs.

WHO EVER HAD HANDKERCHIEFS ENOUGH

Here's your chance to rid the house of that where's-a-clean-handkerchief question. We have them for every member of your family and some come in pretty gift boxes.

A PAIR OF EASY FOOT-RESTING SLIPPERS

Whether for Mother after the long day; Dad after the day's work or the kiddies after the hard playtime; and they're SO comfortable.

WAISTS SOLVE THE GIFT PUZZLE

And there's no store that is showing a more practical lot of women's waists than these of ours. Voile has the first call for practicability but we've plenty of silk and other sorts.

COZY BLANKET BATH ROBES

The sex problem does not enter in to these as they may be given to either man or woman. Plenty of colors. Have cords.

DAINTY BOUDIOR CAPS

Just the daintiest things to slip on and they're always acceptable additions to milady's outfit.

HOSIERY THAT MAKES REAL GIFTS

Whether it's for the dainty party outfit; for Dad at work or just for any old sort of wear, here's something that you will find to give as presents on next Wednesday morning.

TRUTH AND FICTION DO BATTLE TO A REAL FINISH

he stated that he wanted to get married and as he was under age told the 'Squire he was 21 and the latter placed the age figures at 25 of his own volition. He testified that he paid little attention to what was taken down as his record when he joined the Scottish Clan in 1911 and same was true in the matter of the insurance application.

His older brother James Jeffrey was then placed upon the stand and swore that a son Hugh was born to his parents in England, but that this child died in infancy. That a second son was born shortly after his parents arrived at Shenandoah and as Hugh was a family name and they desired to perpetuate it this child was named Hugh and is the present Hugh Jeffrey, who is 29 years of age instead of 46 as contended by the documentary evidence produced.

A number of old friends of the family who lived at Shenandoah in 1879 and later came to DuBois testified that they knew of these facts since the birth of Hugh Jeffrey at Shenandoah.

The hearing lasted all afternoon Tuesday and created a great deal of interest. Argument was made before Judge Bell yesterday afternoon and he will make a decision later.

Show Thyself a Man

By REV. W. W. KETCHUM
Director of Practical Work Course,
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—I go the way of all the earth: but thou strong therefore, and show thyself a man.—1 Kings 2:2.

An old man lay dying. Behind him was a checkered and romantic career.

In his youth he was a shepherd. He became king of Judah, and upon Saul's death was elected king of Israel as well. His sons Absalom and Adonijah, separately and at different times, tried to wrest his throne from him. At last, however, he had the satisfaction of seeing the son whom he had chosen to succeed him crowned king. As he lay dying he called the young king into his presence, and this is what Solomon heard David, his father, say: "I am going the way of all the earth. Show thyself a man."

Not by Clothes.

Solomon must have pondered the meaning of these words, and as we look back over his life it might be wondered if he did not interpret, "Show thyself a man," to mean that he should wear costly and ornamental array. His magnificent clothes made such an impression that our Lord, holding forth a fily, said: "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

Strange, is it not, that even in these days, when the realities of life are being borne in upon us as never before, there are folks who act as if they thought clothes instead of character make the man.

You can test this in most any social gathering. Two men enter; one, with heart as black as hell, but dressed like a fashion plate and with the airs of a gentleman; the other, with sterling character, but green and awkward, wears ordinary plain clothes. The first is a center of attraction while the second is unnoticed unless some one, out of pity, keeps him company. I do not say this would be so if the real value of each man was known, but in the absence of such knowledge, is it not true that often we act as if clothes and not character, make the man?

Not by Wealth.

It may be Solomon thought his father meant that he should acquire wealth, for he amassed a great fortune and became the richest man of all time. He erected a palatial residence that took thirteen years to build, and had such sumptuous surroundings and so much wealth, that the queen of Sheba, hearing of his glory, came to visit him and when she saw it all, exclaimed: "The half was never told."

How many there are today to whom wealth is an indication of manhood. Let it be said that one is rich, and immediately these people do him honor, as if what he possesses, instead of what he is, makes him a man. It is a bad custom we have of asking how much a man is worth, rather than what is his character. A man may have a good character with dollars, and just as easily, he may have a bad character without them. It is not money, or the want of it, that determines a man's character. It is what he actually is.

Wealth may induce to badness, and so may poverty; neither, however, need be blamed for ruined character, because God will give strength and grace to bear either, if we ask him.

Not by Culture.

Possibly Solomon thought that culture makes a man, for we read that he became the wisest of all men. Yet after acquiring understanding in many things, it was he who said at last: "Trust in the Lord and lean not to thine own understanding."

We should remember that God puts no premium upon ignorance. He expects us to develop and increase in knowledge.

The splendid schools and colleges of our day offer youth great opportunities for development; but should all the culture and learning of the world be acquired, and one know not God and Jesus Christ whom he has sent, he is still ignorant of the greatest and most vital truth—truth that is essential to his character, and without which he lacks the power to build that Christian character which alone can stand the testings of God, and having stood them, endure throughout eternity.

The apostle tells us that "noher foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." And he says: "If any man build upon this foundation"—not learning, not culture, but Christ—"he shall receive a reward," provided of course, his building be of such material as will stand the test of fire. And so he tells: "Take heed how ye build thereupon."

Yes, let us take heed how we build thereupon; what kind of Christian characters we erect; but first of all, we need to be definitely sure that we are building upon the only foundation, which is Jesus Christ our Lord. Then as we build our Christian character upon him, may each one of us show himself a man.

Christ's Desire.

In our business Christ wants not so much ours but us.

NOTICE TO PERSONS WHO HAVE LOANED ARTICLES TO THE EMERGENCY HOSPITAL

Articles that have been loaned to the emergency hospital will be all ready to return on Friday morning the 20th, having been disinfected and made safe for use. Articles that have taken on, or the owners of which are known with certainty will be sent to the owner in the morning, but there are a lot of things unmarked. The owners of these articles are asked to come promptly and identify them so they can also be returned without delay. You do not need to fear to come to the hospital for that purpose as the rooms in which they are have been thoroughly fumigated. Come Friday.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Every Thursday all during 1919, it will come to talk over with you the week's progress in agriculture—the problems facing every man who grows food, from barley to beef, from cabbages to cotton.

There is still time for YOU to write a note like this to those farmer friends whose gifts you have not yet bought. Then give me their names, with $1 for each, and I'll start the subscriptions to cover all 1919. This plan makes it easy for you to please them. And if you are not receiving THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, give yourself a subscription for Christmas—and you'll thank me for making the suggestion.

SANTA HAS ARRIVED

And say, Children, you should see what he has brought for you. Some of the hard hearted grown-ups said that we should not give toys this year. Why, what would be the use of Christmas? But thanks to lots of folks that had your good time in mind we have hundreds and hundreds of toys and books and games.

It's getting nearer and nearer Xmas so I would speak to Daddy and Mama and have them come with you to tell them what you want Santa to bring you. Lots of other kiddies here and they have told them just what they wanted on next Wednesday morning and from what we saw we think that they will get all or most all of the things they picked out.

Better come soon before the things are all picked out.

Candies Box and Bulk

"Shop Early" applies to candies this Xmas as much as to anything else for even though the restrictions have been taken off from the local market the manufacturers have not been able to make up any reserve stocks.

Fortunately we have bought enough from our various sources to assure a plentiful stock for the earlier shoppers but we urge you to shop early for your box and bulk candies of the better sort.

It is problematical as to re-filling of orders but we are all stocked for the present.

WILSON AND CLEMENCEAU CONFER AT MURAT PALACE

LONDON PREPARES FOR WELCOME

By ROBERT J. BENDER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Dec. 19.—President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau began an important conference at the Murat palace this morning. It is believed a close understanding between France and the United States regarding the details of the peace pact will be reached. At the conclusion of the conference the President was scheduled to return Marshal Foch's call.

Miss Margaret Wilson is expected to resume her tour of the American military camps tomorrow. She has asked to be sent to the most isolated locality and as a result she probably will be sent to Gondrecourt on Christmas day, while the President will address our doughboys at the American headquarters.

There are two Gondrecourts in the American zone. One is 18 miles east and north of Verdun and the other is 45 miles south of that city. The former is probably where Miss Wilson will visit.

By LOWELL MELLETT

LONDON, Dec. 19.—London intends to exceed Paris' welcome to President Wilson in the same degree that its population exceeds that of the French capital. While great numbers of the political and non-political organizations are considering separate demonstrations in Wilson's honor it is believed they will ultimately follow the example made by Paris and combine in one big celebration. The government of course will provide the President with every attendance but it is London's millions who will give the real welcome.

Wilson's visit will mean more than a holiday since he will arrive in the midst of a warm discussion over the Allied-Russian policy. It is practically certain that his counsel will be sought in this regard. It is also absolutely equally certain he will be urged to define more definitely his attitude concerning the freedom of the seas and enlarge on his plans for a league of nations. While all attentions will be showered on the President and Mrs. Wilson in the form of banquets, parades, speeches, memorials and general celebrations, it is evident that much of the preliminary work of the peace conference will be transacted here.

Renewed interest in the Russian program is the outgrowth of persistent rumors that a great Allied expedition will occupy Petrograd and other parts of Russia to suppress Bolshevism and establish order during the present winter. Newspapers complain that soldiers of the Allies have been ordered to Russia.

Gillett is the second candidate to formally make the announcement. Representative Mann of Illinois made his announcement yesterday.

STOCKS BRISK

New York, Dec. 19.—Leading issues registered fractional advances at the opening of the stock market today. Trading was brisk compared with the dullness which prevailed for the past week. Parianan Railroad opened at 111½ up 1½; Bethlehem B. 62½ up 1½; American Smelting 81½ up 1½; United States Steel 96½. Reading 85, fighting part of the way.

William Blakely is ill at his home on Dorcy street suffering from an attack of tonsillitis.

CLEANINGS FROM SOLDIERS' LETTERS

John A. Black in a letter to his father, John Black of O'Shanter says he is writing his letter, which is dated November 21st, in an American Red Cross rest room and then proceeds to give a brief outline of his six months service in France. He says: "This is the first real place I have been in since I came to France. It has been nearly six months since I landed and believe me, it has been a long six months. We have hiked all over France and have spent two months under shell fire. We went over the top first on September 26th and came out of the front line on October 31st. We then hiked around for four days; rested for a week, then started back and got into it again on the 31st and finished on the morning the armistice was signed. How glad we felt when we got the good news."

He says in his letter that he is uneasy about his brother Bob as he had not heard from him in more than two months. He said Bob's regiment went into the line at the same time theirs did, but were roughly handled and only stayed in ten hours. Sergeant Robert Black was reported killed in action September 26th.

The Black boys were doing their bit for their country, four of them having been in the service. Sergeant Robert who made the supreme sacrifice, John the writer of the above letter, James in the Spruce Division at Vancouver Barracks and Alexander in the U. S. Merchant Marine.

Lloyd Mulson of Frenchville, in an interesting letter to his father, P. A. Mulson, written from Lobbe Freres, St. Florent, France, November 24th, tells an interesting story of his experiences during his year of service with the A. E. F. He is a Quarter Master Sergeant in the railroad division and handles eight or nine trains a day. He says he has acquired more practical knowledge during his twelve months in France than he would have received in three years at college. He was through the thickest of the fighting and helped bridge the Vesle river seven different times during the terrific struggles of Pershing's boys to cross that historic stream.

He was wounded and in the hospital for some time. His wounds consisted of a lacerated hand, four ribs broken and other injuries due to shrapnel. The boys are all glad the war is over and anxious to get home, but Sergeant Mulson says he is one of Uncle Sammy's nephews who is going to stay with the old man until the job is done, regardless of the time it takes.

Fred Freeman in a letter to his father, John Freeman, of Grampian, says the boys sure were glad when the war ended. They had been thru war's hardest and cruellest mill and while they had clinched the victory there were many of their comrades who would remain behind in the graveyards of France, while the many crippled soldiers would ever remind America of the sacrifices her sons made to make this old world a better place to live in. His letter is dated November 22d, and he winds up by saying that while all the boys are anxious to get home they are going to stay right on the job as long as their Uncle Sammy needs them.

Raymond B. Helsel in a letter to his father H. J. Helsel, of Turnpike avenue, which was written on "Father's Day", November 24th last, gives his impression of France. He is not stuck on "Frogland" at that, and says everything is so different from what we have in the U. S. A. He would prefer to be hunting deer in Pennsylvania in two feet of snow and is anxious to know whether the Panther Camp got a deer this year. The customs of the French are harder for the young yank to understand than the appearance of the towns, but he says now that the war is over and they will all soon be home he will tell them more about it when he lands.

BEEN FRACTURED SOME

Ray Shirey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shirey of William street, fell and broke a wrist while at play last evening. Young Shirey is some broker or breaker or whatever you choose to call it, as a total of his casualties figure up two broken legs and three broken arms. That is he has had both his legs broken and this made three arms fractured, as he had both arms cracked previously to this accident.

THIRTEEN FLU CASES

There were thirteen new cases of influenza reported yesterday. There are eleven cases in the emergency hospital today; no new case were taken into the hospital since yesterday morning.

DOCTORS PROTEST HOSPITAL CLOSING

At a meeting of the physicians of Clearfield Wednesday night called to discuss the recent action of the Board of Health regarding the closing of the Emergency Hospital on December 21st it was the unanimous opinion expressed that such action was inadvisable at so early a date. The experience of many localities has been that two or more outbreaks have followed the original epidemic and the possible further need of this institution may at any time become urgent. Where entire families are afflicted and no attention is available in their homes to be without such a hospital would entail unquestionable suffering and without doubt death.

We can not see the consistency of the Board of Health action in view of the facts as they have presented themselves, not only here but in other localities.

DEER VISITS TOWN

A fine big doe deer run off the mountains by dogs wandered through the East End this morning. The deer came up Bigler avenue about 1 o'clock and when an automobile came along hopped over the fence into Bert Merritt's lot, corner Fourth and Bigler avenue. She then started up toward Daisy street and another car drove her back again. A couple of boys got out after her and she finally beat it across Daisy street and up through Hillcrest cemetery. It then ambled down to Fifth street and out to Market and gingerly traversed the brick street up past the Allegheny House. It then turned back and went up Fourth street to Cherry, crossed lots to Walnut and raced that street to river. It ran down the bank and crossed below the boating dam. On reaching the other side the deer stopped long enough to say "Hello" to Doc Leopold, who was out on his back porch and after injuring about Jack Mohny and Hen Mabie, she hustled across lots to the woods on Coal Hill.

I saw it in The Progress.

TRUTH AND FACTS DO BATTLE FOR REAL PEACE

It has long been said that truth is stranger than fiction and it is true that it takes the wisdom of a Solomon to strike a balance between the two, and at that in many, many cases Old Man Fiction is able to get a strange hold on shrinking little Miss Truth and send her to the mat for the count.

However anything is liable to occur any time a Duobis case "comes to the boards" at the Temple of Justice in this state, decorous and respectable old county seat town.

At least that was the opinion of the court room loungers Tuesday afternoon after sitting through the testimony at the hearing of the case of Hugh Jeffrey to show cause why his license for the Hotel Windsor should not be revoked, it being the contention of District Attorney Arnold that Jeffrey was an alien and therefore not eligible under the Brooks License law to hold a license.

It seems that some of the Duobis people are and have been unable to live in "peace and harmony" with their neighbors. In fact this state of affairs has persisted for some time. One of the leading actors or factors in this drama or vendetta of brother against brother, class against class, or "dry" against "wet" as the case may be, is former Chief of Police and former County Detective Hugh Jeffrey, who recently was granted a license to conduct the Windsor hotel bar.

There appears to be and has been for a long time some misunderstanding between Jeffrey's exact status in the community. He is a "foreigner" in that in his people came from County Durham, England, and with his family now to have been born in Shenandoah, Pa., some of his friends and many of his enemies claim he was born across the water and as neither his father or himself were naturalized of course remains a British subject while exercising the rights and functions and reaping the benefits of American citizenship.

Recently documentary evidence sufficient to warrant him to believe that Mr. Jeffrey was at least mistaken in his claims of American citizenship, was placed in the hands of District Attorney Arnold and fortified with these seemingly incontrovertible facts, that official petitioned the court to grant a rule on Mr. Jeffrey returnable Tuesday last, asking him to show cause why his license should not be revoked, for the reasons already stated.

The hearing was held Tuesday afternoon before Judge Bell. The District Attorney prosecuting the inquiry while Miller & Hartwick appeared for Mr. Jeffrey.

Mr. Arnold in the course of the investigation established the fact that James and Ann Jeffrey, parents of Hugh, lived in England and along about 1879 emigrated to Shenandoah, Pa. He then presented a certificate of birth from the town in England showing that a son was born to James and Ann Jeffrey on June 20, 1872, and followed this with a baptismal certificate from the Presbyterian church there showing that the child was baptized and given the name of Hugh.

He then produced the marriage license record which showed that Hugh Jeffrey had made application to Squire Woodring at DuBois for a marriage license, in 1897, in which application his age was given as 25 years.

He further showed that Jeffrey joined the Scottish clan in DuBois in 1911 and his application recited the fact that he was born in England in 1872.

In each of the above documents the number of brothers and sisters of Jeffrey, living and dead, are given, but no mention is made of the possible death of the claimed first Hugh Jeffrey.

This was followed by an application for insurance made in 1915, to the Metropolitan Insurance company in which it stated over Jeffrey's signature that he was born in England and was 43 years of age.

Now enters the strange part of this intricate tangled skein or talk. Mr. Jeffrey was placed upon the stand and stated that he was born at Shenandoah, Pa., in 1879, and was seven years younger than his insurance application stated he was in 1915. He produced a birth certificate showing that a son was born to James and Ann Jeffrey at Shenandoah in 1879. When cross-examined as to the marriage license application

SHALL WE BACKSLIDE?

One is apt to think of after-the-war reconstruction, as far as this country is concerned, merely in terms of materials released from munition manufacture and of labor turned back to peacetime trades. It will be unfortunate if this is as far as it goes. Along with the reconstruction of industry, of business and of labor, it is to be hoped that there is to be a reconstruction of the American home, based upon the lessons of war-time thrift.

It used to be almost a boast of the American people that we were a wasteful lot. Not much wiser, after all than the spendthrift prodigal who smiles in fatuous fashion over the approving shoulder-slappings of his comrades, we seemed as a nation to feel a vague sort of pride when other peoples stood amazed at our lavishness.

It required participation in a world war to make us see things in their proper light. As a nation we were wasting our resources—resources of precious value to our country in its hour of peril. As individuals we found ourselves—many of us who had long been living beyond our incomes and laying aside nothing for the inevitable "rainy day"—appealed to with desperate earnestness to contribute hard dollars to help defend the flag. It was a great awakening. Suddenly the waste we had indulged became a cardinal sin in our eyes, and earnestly we set about to mend our ways. Shall we now go back?

During the past 19 months many of us, for the first time in our lives, became the owners of government bonds. Twenty million of us became bondholders; and that, too, despite the fact that the incomes of many homes remained stationary while the cost of living soared skyward. Thrift stamps, war savings stamps, Liberty bonds! Under the spur of our country's need we bought to our capacity, and as we bought it must have been borne in upon most of us how easy it is, once we start, to acquire the habit of saving.

There probably will not be more than two more issues of Liberty bonds but we are given to understand by Washington that the government means to establish as a permanent institution the business of selling saving stamps. It is a wise decision and one by which we should not fail to profit.

So, too, it is to be hoped that the measures which we adopted voluntarily to conserve the nation's food supply in time of war will be of lasting benefit. When nations abroad starved for lack of the barest essentials of food, the doctrine of the clean plate became for us, who had plenty, a sacred trust. Even with peace half of Europe lies prostrate and famine stalks through Russia. Months, perhaps years, must pass before the shell-torn fields of France and the wasted acres of Russia can produce their accustomed harvests. In face of this, dare we go back?

SOLDIERS TO ENTERTAIN AT THE Y. M. C. A.

About twenty soldiers visit and use the privileges of the Y every day. They all appreciate and use the gymnasium, bowling alleys and shower baths.

Secretary Graus has arranged a bowling match for them and secured an auditor to give the boys a talk on how it feels to fly. A soldier who was in the second battle of the Marne—both have been wounded and have consented to give the boys a talk some evening.

A basketball team of ex-soldiers will lay in the basketball league starting in January.

NOTICE

The Presbyterian chorus for the cantata "The Shepherds of Bethlehem" will rehearse in the church at seven o'clock this evening. A full attendance is desired.

WANTED

We have heard a great deal about "Keeping the Home Fires Burning" during the past year and a half, and while it may not take so much fuel now, to do it, it costs more, and the health and comfort of our sick and injured is just as important in peace as in war, and your hospital is as busy and as ready to serve as ever. Help us to maintain and improve its service.

Please send your checks to either of the undersigned.

Christmas gifts and good will

YOU know, the value of a gift isn't in what it costs, but in the good will it represents.

Just now, when the world needs it more than anything else, it is a good idea to put extra emphasis on the "Good will."

For reasons of economy, all gifts this year should be useful gifts; find out what your friends and loved ones really need; something he or she will have to buy anyway, sooner or later; give something like that.

There are plenty of such gifts; you'll find lots of them here in our store—gifts suitable for men. Buy Christmas things early; it's a government request.

News of Our Neighbors

CURWENSVILLE

Clayton McNaull who hunted on the mountain all of last week, came home Saturday and brought with him a case of influenza. His attack is of a slight form.

Roy Crissman, who has been confined to his home on South Side for more than a week fighting the influenza, is able to be up and about again.

W. K. Wrigley druggist went to Clearfield yesterday afternoon and transacted business.

Walter Deering aged 21, who died at the home of his father a few days ago, was buried in Oak Hill cemetery.

Miss Lou Holden who is suffering from an attack of pneumonia, was reported last evening to be in a critical condition.

Roy Strickland since being mustered out of the U. S. navy recently is now engaged in the barber shop of James Richards.

Parents of J. Earl Sipes received news from the department yesterday that their son had been killed in action on November 3d. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sipes, who reside in the south side and enlisted in the Marine service sometime last June. He was the first native Curwensville boy who has met death so far fighting across the sea.

An Italian child was buried in Oak Hill cemetery yesterday, its death resulting from an attack of influenza.

George Ammerman who has been attending military school at Carlisle is home on furlough subject to his mustering out of the service.

Charles Addleman, of Pike township, was in town yesterday and reported that his wife and two other members of his family were down with the flu.

Word was received here yesterday by Charles Moose announcing the death of his brother George Moose which occurred at Reynoldsville yesterday. He was principal of the Reynoldsville schools and since their suspension on account of the flu epidemic has been assisting in taking care of the sick of that town.

ough council to have the Raftsmen Water company test all plugs that the borough might have an occasion to use some night. The present weather is propitious for a good test now by the water company.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Over one thousand negro women have found employment in workshops in Newark, N. J.

Roller skates are used to save time by women messengers in the United States arsenal at Rock Island, Ill.

The Michigan Federation of Labor is urging the enactment of a State law to insure women equal pay for equal work.

More than 1500 women and girls have been graduated from the mechanics training school established by one of the big automobile manufacturers.

Investigations show that women operatives on drill presses and milling machines are from 25 to 50 per cent faster in their work than men operatives.

The chemical engineering college of the University of Michigan is offering two short courses to women this fall to train them as inspectors of ordnance.

England's only woman hotel keeper of title is Lady Honywood, wife of Sir Courtenay Honywood, Bart. Recently Lady Honywood has taken over the entire control and management of a fashionable hotel in London.

The celebrated Duchess of Sutherland is disposing of her property in England with a view to making her future home in France. She is credited with having set up one of the best-equipped military hospitals in the war zone.

Relief from Eczema

Don't worry about eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, healthy skin by using a little zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or extra large bottle at $1.00. Zemo generally removes pimples, blackheads, blotches, eczema, and ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy and stains nothing. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable.

Make The Most Of Your Time From Now Till Christmas

The shopping days before Christmas are getting fewer and fewer and it behooves you, in event of so much early shopping, to take advantage of these timely and sensible gifts that we are mentioning below.

UNDERSKIRTS

Fancy Heatherbloom underskirts with the clinging lines that are so much in vogue today. There's plenty of colors for you.

WHY NOT GIVE FURS

We still have a plentiful selection of stoles, neckpieces and mufflers. There are also some children's sets.

MEN'S SHIRTS

These shirts were selected by men for men. The colors are of the quiet kind. HALL-MARK made is featured. Have stiff or soft cuffs.

WHO EVER HAD HANDKERCHIEFS ENOUGH

Here's your chance to rid the house of that where's-a-clean-handkerchief question. We have them for every member of your family and some come in pretty gift boxes.

A PAIR OF EASY FOOT-RESTING SLIPPERS

Whether for Mother after the long day; Dad after the day's work or the kiddies after the hard playtime; and they're SO comfortable.

TRUTH AND FICTION DO BATTLE TO A REAL FINISH

he stated that he wanted to get married and as he was under age told the 'Squire he was 21 and the latter placed the age figures at 25 of his own volition. He testified that he paid little attention to what was taken down as his record when he joined the Scottish Clan in 1911 and same was true in the matter of the insurance application.

His older brother James Jeffrey was then placed upon the stand and swore that a son Hugh was born to his parents in England, but that this child died in infancy. That a second son was born shortly after his parents arrived at Shenandoah and as Hugh was a family name and they desired to perpetuate it this child was named Hugh and is the present Hugh Jeffrey, who is 29 years of age instead of 46 as contended by the documentary evidence produced.

A number of old friends of the family who lived at Shenandoah in 1879 and later came to DuBois testified that they knew of these facts since the birth of Hugh Jeffrey at Shenandoah.

The hearing lasted all afternoon Tuesday and created a great deal of interest. Argument was made before Judge Bell yesterday afternoon and he will make a decision later.

Show Thyself a Man

By REV. W. W. KETCHUM
Director of Practical Work Course,
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—I go the way of all the earth: but thou strong therefore, and show thyself a man.—1 Kings 2:2.

An old man lay dying. Behind him was a checkered and romantic career.

In his youth he was a shepherd. He became king of Judah, and upon Saul's death was elected king of Israel as well. His sons Absalom and Adonijah, separately and at different times, tried to wrest his throne from him. At last, however, he had the satisfaction of seeing the son whom he had chosen to succeed him crowned king. As he lay dying he called the young king into his presence, and this is what Solomon heard David, his father, say: "I am going the way of all the earth. Show thyself a man."

Not by Clothes.
Solomon must have pondered the meaning of these words, and as we look back over his life it might be wondered if he did not interpret, "Show thyself a man," to mean that he should wear costly and ornamental array. His magnificent clothes made such an impression that our Lord, holding forth a fily, said: "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

Strange, is it not, that even in these days, when the realities of life are being borne in upon us as never before, there are folks who act as if they thought clothes instead of character make the man.

You can test this in most any social gathering. Two men enter; one, with heart as black as hell, but dressed like a fashion plate and with the airs of a gentleman; the other, with sterling character, but green and awkward, wears ordinary plain clothes. The first is a center of attraction while the second is unnoticed unless some one, out of pity, keeps him company. I do not say this would be so if the real value of each man was known, but in the absence of such knowledge, is it not true that often we act as if clothes and not character, make the man?

Not by Wealth.
It may be Solomon thought his father meant that he should acquire wealth, for he amassed a great fortune and became the richest man of all time. He erected a palatial residence that took thirteen years to build, and had such sumptuous surroundings and so much wealth, that the queen of Sheba, hearing of his glory, came to visit him and when she saw it all, exclaimed: "The half was never told."

How many there are today to whom wealth is an indication of manhood. Let it be said that one is rich, and immediately these people do him honor, as if what he possesses, instead of what he is, makes him a man. It is a bad custom we have of asking how much a man is worth, rather than what is his character. A man may have a good character with dollars, and just as easily, he may have a bad character without them. It is not money, or the want of it, that determines a man's character. It is what he actually is.

Wealth may induce to badness, and so may poverty; neither, however, need be blamed for ruined character, because God will give strength and grace to bear either, if we ask him.

Not by Culture.
Possibly Solomon thought that culture makes a man, for we read that he became the wisest of all men. Yet after acquiring understanding in many things, it was he who said at last: "Trust in the Lord and lean not to thine own understanding."

We should remember that God puts no premium upon ignorance. He expects us to develop and increase in knowledge.

The splendid schools and colleges of our day offer youth great opportunities for development; but should all the culture and learning of the world be acquired, and one know not God and Jesus Christ whom he has sent, he is still ignorant of the greatest and most vital truth—truth that is essential to his character, and without which he lacks the power to build that Christian character which alone can stand the testings of God, and having stood them, endure throughout eternity.

The apostle tells us that "no other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." And he says: "If any man build upon this foundation"—not learning, not culture, but Christ—"he shall receive a reward," provided of course, his building be of such material as will stand the test of fire. And so he tells: "Take heed how ye build thereupon."

Yes, let us take heed how we build thereupon; what kind of Christian characters we erect; but first of all, we need to be definitely sure that we are building upon the only foundation, which is Jesus Christ our Lord. Then as we build our Christian character upon him, may each one of us show himself a man.

Christ's Desire.
In our business Christ wants not so much ours but us.

NOTICE TO PERSONS WHO HAVE LOANED ARTICLES TO THE EMERGENCY HOSPITAL

Articles that have been loaned to the emergency hospital will be all ready to return on Friday morning the 20th, having been disinfected and made safe for use. Articles that have taken on, or the owners of which are known with certainty will be sent to the owner in the morning, but there are a lot of things unmarked. The owners of these articles are asked to come promptly and identify them so they can also be returned without delay. You do not need to fear to come to the hospital for that purpose as the rooms in which they are have been thoroughly fumigated. Come Friday.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Every Thursday all during 1919, it will come to talk over with you the week's progress in agriculture—the problems facing every man who grows food, from barley to beef, from cabbages to cotton.

There is still time for YOU to write a note like this to those farmer friends whose gifts you have not yet bought. Then give me their names, with $1 for each, and I'll start the subscriptions to cover all

1919. This plan makes it easy for you to please them. And if you are not receiving THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, give yourself a subscription for Christmas—and you'll thank me for making the suggestion.

SANTA HAS ARRIVED

And say, Children, you should see what he has brought for you. Some of the hard hearted grown-ups said that we should not give toys this year. Why, what would be the use of Christmas? But thanks to lots of folks that had your good time in mind we have hundreds and hundreds of toys and books and games.

It's getting nearer and nearer Xmas so I would speak to Daddy and Mama and have them come with you to tell them what you want Santa to bring you. Lots of other kiddies here and they have told them just what they wanted on next Wednesday morning and from what we saw we think that they will get all or most all of the things they picked out.

Better come soon before the things are all picked out.

REPORT MURDER OF YOUNG AMERICAN BY HUNS

Copenhagen, Dec. 18.—Murder of a young American aviator by German prison guards after the armistice was signed was reported here today.

"A young American aviator named Coeheny who was a prisoner in the camp near Stratsund wnet outside the barbed wire enclosure at seven o'clock in the evening of December 8, a British office declared, during an interview regarding German internal conditions published in the Koedenhavn German guards shot him despite the fact that the armistice was signed. Coeheny was only 27 years of age."

Candies Box and Bulk

"Shop Early" applies to candies this Xmas as much as to anything else for even though the restrictions have been taken off from the local market the manufacturers have not been able to make up any reserve stocks.

Fortunately we have bought enough from our various sources to assure a plentiful stock for the earlier shoppers but we urge you to shop early for your box and bulk candies of the better sort.

It is problematical as to re-filling of orders but we are all stocked for the present.
